

“Boy, what do we need a car for? We got a bus that breathes fire, and old Mr. Dennis, who always has a trick for you.”

The bus creaked to a stop in front of them.
It sighed and sagged and the doors swung open.